MISS BARTLETT URGES ATTENDANCE AT A.A.U.W. BRIDGE

At Convocation Thursday, Miss Bartlett, president of the Sweet Briar Branch, spoke on the American Association of University Women. She said that after the Great War a group of women in England thought that if the educated women of the world could unite they could help the cause of education and particularly the cause of international peace.

Dr. Caroline Spurgeon, of the University of London, spoke at colleges here on this subject and in 1920 there was formed in London the International Federation of University Women which today includes the organizations of 31 countries. The Federation has Club houses in Paris, London, Brussels, and Washington. Various hotels and pensions in Europe give special rates to its members.

The American organization changed its name in 1921 to that of University Women to conform to that of the International Federation. There are at present 37 state organizations, 439 branches and more than 2900 members. It is one of the great accrediting agencies through its work on the recognition and standardization of colleges. It is an honor for an college to be accepted by it. Dean Dutton, who has been connected with it for many years and is its present Chairman of the Committee on Maintaining Standards, says there are now more than one hundred institutions which have been refused admission.

The National Association maintains an educational secretary and an International Relations Secretary who sends out programs and material for study groups. Its beautiful Club House in Washington is for use of any branch member.

The influence of the Association on the higher education of women and on obtaining greater recognition for them has been considerable. It is now working for a Million-Dollar Fellowship Fund to aid women to carry on graduate study and research.

Sweet Briar.

The Sweet Briar Branch of thirty members is concentrating its work this year on its campus activities. Among these are the annual Christmas party, a meeting for Seniors who are planning graduate work and a final garden party for them. Amherst County Day is the most important work undertaken. It was

Miss Czarnomaska Gives Last Lecture On Egypt

On Thursday evening, February 28th, Professor Czarnomaska gave the third of her delightful and instructive illustrated lectures on "Egypt, Past and Present."

Taking her audience with her on a journey up the Nile, Miss Czarnomaska has in these lectures presented in chronological sequence the contribution of the more important dynasties to art and architecture and to the development of religious thought in Egypt. The last lecture dealt chiefly with the eighteenth and nineteenth dynasties and made such persons as Hatsheput, Thutmose IV, Queen Ty, Ikhnoton, and Ramesses II vivid realities. It will be remembered that in the reign of Ramesses II Moses was born. He doubtless knew of the great advances in religion made by Amenhotep IV in the preceding dynasty, and possibly

'Careerin-Around' Predicts Futures For Graduates

The Junior Show, directed by Betsy Embrey, was presented Saturday night. The Prologue, a scene on the Golden Stairs, was reminiscent of early graduating classes from Sweet Briar, the particular class being 19X. Following this Prologue were five acts, representing the class of 1930 in future years, out in the "wide, wide world."

The first career represented a schoolroom, with Harriett Williams at its head, acting as teacher. The second career revealed Mary MacDonald as head of Mountfield Sports at the foot of Mt. Blaine. Mary Moss headed the scene "Social Butterflying," an interesting cabaret scene. Merry Curtis headed "Shimming," and Alice Leigh the scene "Modeling," which was a fashion show, a display of clothes from Guggenheimer's.

The show had several unusual features. Among these, the painted backdrops representing the "Golden Stairs" and the Blum District, the introduction of Bus Rhea in the role of a banjo artist, the live monkey and the mysterious hand organ were of especial interest.

Marjorie Sturges designed the programs which were done in the form of diplomas. Mona Stone managed the scenery, and Josephine Reid, the properties.

President Elected by Paint and Patches.

In a meeting this noon Paint and Patches elected Betsy Embrey to be president of the organization for 1929-'30. The other nominees were Katrine Blake and Harriett Williams.

Paint and Patches will present "Peter Pan" Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock. There will be no admission charge and a general invitation is extended to students, faculty and their guests.

WESTHAMPTON BEATS VARSITY 23-17

Last Saturday afternoon, March 2nd, the Sweet Briar Varsity basketball team was defeated by Westhampton on the Y. W. C. A. floor in Lynchburg. The score was 23-17.

The game started at three o'clock sharp and from the first whistle until the last, both teams put up a good fight, showed good sportsmanship throughout the game and played a fast and very interesting game of basketball.

Riddick, Westhampton's six-foot center, got the jumps almost every time, which sent the ball down to their forwards, but Swift and Williams were not at all once; they put up a splendid game of defense and made it quite hard for Westhampton's forwards to score; although a number of beautiful "looped shots" were caged by the Westhampton forwards from various angles on the floor.

Although Gibbs was not able to get the jump, she and Prior displayed fine angle passing down the floor to the forwards and were quick to jump to the defense when the ball was passed back to center.

Hammack, Westhampton's ablest side-center, kept Geri busy and the passing in the center had to be fast and sure or the other side was sure to intercept.

Freshmen Plan Party For Sister Class

Saturday, March 9th, the Freshmen will entertain their sister class in Reid dining room at 6:00 o'clock. The exact plans have not as yet been disclosed but Emma Knowlton is chairman, and an interesting evening is expected. The committee chairman are: Edith Rayley, Decoration. Peggy Hall, Food. Mary Van Winkle, Entertainment. Dr. Harley, Miss Bartlett, and Kay Norris will also be guests at the party.

News Meeting

There will be an important meeting of the NEWS Staff in the Cabin Thursday night at 7:30.

Everyone on the Staff is expected to be present.

DR. D. A. ROBERTSON WILL ADDRESS HONOR STUDENTS

The annual Honor Dinner will be held Thursday night in Reid Refectory. The speaker of the evening is to be Dr. David Allan Robertson of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Robertson was formerly professor of English at the University of Chicago, and assistant to the president. From 1920 to 1923 he was Dean of the College of High Arts and Sciences of the University of Chicago. As director in the American Council of Education, he is in charge of its division of International Relations. Dr. Robertson is the editor of American Universities and Colleges, published by Scribner in 1928, and considered perhaps the most authoritative source of information on the subject. Dr. Robertson also holds the position of investigator of universities and colleges on the American Council of Education.

The subject of Dr. Robertson's address has not yet been announced, but President Glass will speak on the subject of honors. The entire college will have the opportunity of hearing Dr. Robertson speak at convocation on Friday.

To be eligible for the Honor Dinner, the faculty requires a student to carry full work, to have no entrance condition, to have no grade below "C," and have a high "B" average on all work, meaning that there must be more "A" hours than "C" hours to secure a balanced average. The Dean's office wishes to specially commend the three students who received "A" on every subject: Mary Gochauer, '29, Frances Harrison, '30, and Edith Rayley, '32.

The guests at the dinner other than the guests of honor, the President, the Dean, and the honor students, include the college committee on Honors and the honorary members of the classes.

Sixty-two honor students: 28 Seniors, 16 Juniors, 12 Sophomores, and 6 Freshmen, are attending the dinner. They are as follows:

Seniors:

New Editor Chooses Briar Patch Staff

"The staff for the 1930 Briar Patch has been chosen," announced Mary Lynn Carlson, the Editor-in-Chief, on Friday, March 1.

The editorial staff is headed by Elizabeth Strubling as assistant editor; Mary Lou Flournoy is literary editor, and Mary Stewart Kelso her assistant. Ethel Ware and Martha Tillery are the photographic editors for the Yearbook, while Mary Henderson and Caroline Heath will take care of the feature section. Martha Henderson is in charge of the art work.

The business staff is completed by Jean Piech as assistant business manager, and Dorothy Boyle as advertising manager.

"If we find it necessary, we will add one or two additional members to the staff later," said Mary Lynn, when asked whether the staff is now complete.

THE CHAPEL PROBLEM.

One of the subjects of campus discussion that of late has been of great interest to all members of the college is that of coercive chapel attendance. There is no possibility of here attaining any solution to the problem but a comment on a subject of such prime interest to the whole community is never out of order.

In a recent meeting of the students with certain members of the faculty, talks were given to the student body in which the views of these members and the experiences that caused the formation of their views were openly presented. The influence of these talks has been quite widely felt and, while many of the students have changed their own views in accordance, the value of these opinions has not been underestimated by anyone, nor has anyone failed to appreciate the necessity of this advice to the students in working out this problem which is so difficult in that the individual opinions of so many students must be welded into one satisfactory and efficient plan.

That each student must work out her individual solution and that none of the students are lacking in interest in this problem are facts that were quite well illustrated by the talks and the evident interest they inspired in the recent meeting.

For this problem of so-called compulsory chapel attendance is one of such importance to the whole character of our school life that it is not to be influenced by such a basically superficial consideration as that rebellious spirit, which is so frequently, if often mistakenly, considered becoming to the youth of today, nor yet by absolute submission to the established convention. Only through the sincere and interested thought and consideration of each student can we reach the successful solution that is so necessary to the spiritual health of Sweet Briar.

THE A. A. U. W. AT SWEET BRIAR.

Those who heard Miss Bartlett speak in Convocation last week were impressed, probably for the first time, with a clear understanding of the meaning of the American Association of University Women. We have, of course, known of its existence here at Sweet Briar, and that it was a branch of the national organization, but there has been little opportunity heretofore for any but the Seniors at graduating time to be instructed in the ideals and work of the A. A. U. W.

It is because the A. A. U. W. is so vitally interested in us as undergraduates that we should have a like interest in the work of that organization. As an outgrowth in this country of the European association, it has proved itself as worthy an organization as the European one that American, especially students, travelling abroad have had occasion to count invaluable. As graduates of colleges and universities, these alumnae are, above all, interested in those who are still pursuing their undergraduate studies.

The standardizing of curricula, the maintaining of better and more profitable relationship between graduates and undergraduates, and social work among girls not fortunate enough to go to college, are some of the ideals this splendid organization has set itself to attain and in which it has admirably succeeded thus far. This week a part of that purpose is to be realized for us at Sweet Briar, when the A. A. U. W. will sponsor a bridge, to which the students have been urged to subscribe. It will be an opportunity for us to help the work of the local as well as the national organization, and for the faculty and students to meet each other in a spirit of friendly relationship which is not only an ideal of the A. A. U. W. but of Sweet Briar herself.

The Junior Show is over and we see now who replaced those members who were unable to be in the show—Bus Rhea and a kind monkey from Lynchburg volunteered their services and performed very respectably. Miss Rodger, not June Williams, did the tricky tapping number.

Everyone, except possibly nine or ten of us, attended the inauguration, Monday—however, when five a. m. and rain greeted us, we must confess that we felt not a pang of envy.

We've heard of people falling from horses into streams, over fences into ditches, and off of bridges (this last item requested by Cole) but we consider it quite a feat that Perry W. and Ruth Graham could fall off their horses simultaneously while walking slowly along by the laundry.

Besides beauty, Belle has that good old quality of abject-mindedness, occasionally—Monday she sat in her room until 1:30 waiting for the lunch bell to ring, and was forced to lunch some far off Schraft's fudge sauce (80 cents).

Gwen Olcott had a real shock the other day when she found on her door an unpunctuated telegram which read like this (punctuation of her own invention): "Last Kiss Forgotten. Please Take Me Home. Warming Up. A. Last. Manhattan Cocktail!" Signed Beverly Griffith. A half hour later she realized that it was an answer to a request of hers for the movie people to give the titles of some movies to be given here this month.

Topics of the day: Bids for the honor Banquet have been received; the honorable men announced—also invitations to the Freshman party; pieces of light music in evidence—pictures of the four honor girls arrive, tough luck they are so ugly—Freshman class visits the big Rectory on March Fourth; Seniors unable to find seats in the dining room—Rain, rain, rain—the road to Rhea's worse than ever.

Dear Sally and Geri: The last item in this column last week was for you, not the public. Fortunate though, wasn't that we didn't use a stranger expression. This is for publication,—by way of apology.

Hall of Fame.

We nominate for the Hall of Fame, Betsy Embry. Because though not entering Sweet Briar until her sophomore year she has made herself one of the most outstanding girls of her class. Because in the Junior show she showed her ability not only as a producer and actor but also as an artist of Grease Paint. Because although she enjoys athletics, she is not "one of those athletic girls". And finally, because she is one of the "cornerstones" babies at Sweet Briar.

Intercollegiate News

PROFESSOR REQUIRES A NEAT APPEARANCE.

Good looking clothes most certainly do create a favorable impression. This fact was recently demonstrated in one of Georgia Tech's class rooms, when the professor asserted that he always gave better marks to those dressed in white shirts and good looking ties.

The same professor one day sent an untidily clad student to his room to improve his appearance. The student returned to class in full tuxedo attire much to the amusement of the class.

A SAFE AND SANE STUDY

Students in a Viennese (Austrian) University are requested to take a course teaching them to become safe and sane pedestrians. The reason for this unique "study" is not a faculty brain storm, the seeming cause of so many required courses, but over them and have made it a custom that all girls must sit in the front of the class rooms directly under the professor's eye.

BEAT THIS, IF YOU CAN.

Temple University makes the boast of having the most unique and original campus in the country. Its campus lies between Diamond and Oxford streets and Twelfth and Seventeenth streets in Philadelphia. Within this space, beside the college buildings, are located four movie houses, three dance halls, twenty three drug stores, twenty-eight restaurants, five florists, 14 haberdashers, nine beauty parlors, eight churches and a cemetery.

CHINESE HONOR.

Students in China protested against the honor system recently when an examination in Nanking was attended by students carrying notes and books in sleeves, hats and shoes. When their more honest classmates observed the cheating that was going on, a fist fight was begun which was stopped only by the police. The next day all participants in examination were searched before entering the classroom.

A NEW DEGREE.

A revised charter enables the Floating University to confer degrees, and it will offer courses leading to the B.A., M.A., and B.W.A. degrees. The B. W. A. (Bachelor of World Affairs) is a new degree, not conferred elsewhere, and is based on the concept that the study of history, government, economics, and sociology on a world-wide scale is valuable training to enter public affairs, the diplomatic and consular services or international business. To win the W.W.A. the student may take his first two years of college in a law institution and spend his junior and senior years in an intensive study of the courses in the World Affairs division of the Floating University curriculum, or the student may spend all four years with the Floating University.

Life at Syrian School

Extremely Restricted.

The liberty allowed the students of an American boarding school is little compared with that in college; but it is a thousandfold greater than in a Syrian school, according to Nejla Izzedin, '30, who comes from Egypt.

In school at Beirut the girls were kept entirely apart from the grounds. If their parents especially desired it, they could be chaperoned on a shopping trip to the stores to buy needed articles. Only with their own parents could a girl leave the grounds for a day. And not only the girl, but the parents, were af-

OPEN LETTER

Sweet Briar, Virginia,
March 1st, 1929.

Editor The News,
Sweet Briar, Va.

Dear Editor:

Common honesty impells me to disclaim any credit for originating the brilliant remark attributed to me in the current issue of The News. It was the Medical, not the Music department from which the said remark emanated, and so, perhaps, if Dr. Harley were tactfully approached, he might be willing to throw some light on the subject.

Thanks, however, for the compliment!

Sincerely,
REGINALD W. MARTIN.

ected by the rules of the school, for they could come to see their daughter only once a month, on visiting days.

Men are taboo in a girls' school in Syria. Harmless males such as fathers or brothers, may visit, that is all. Even in matters involving personal taste, when a husband is to be picked, the girl's family takes upon itself the burden of choice. She sees her betrothed four or five times before the wedding. Perhaps, as Nejla said, you can tell us that number of times involving it is the right man—but how tragic if he's not!

Life at school is extremely full. At six the girls get up to sweep the floors and make beds until breakfast time an hour later. Compulsory chapel lasts for half an hour till eight-thirty when classes begin. The class periods are each of forty-five minutes, and the subjects studied are rather like those in American schools. Each student, however, speaks three languages, Arabic, French and English. The chief difference lies in the mode of study; for while in America it seems to Nejla that only the surface is touched on, in Syria less ground is covered—more thoroughly. For instance, in her school they had studied carefully a number of writers including Shakespeare, some French authors, and the writers, who made up the Arabic literature.

At four in the afternoon there are games for those who wish to play until dinner; this, besides compulsory gym, occupies the period during the day. Study hall takes up the evening until bedtime at nine.

There is little difference between the Syrian school and the American; the difference lies in the students. For while in Syria a woman is not considered a proper person on the streets by herself, in this country, theoretically at least, she is any man's equal.

Italy Has Book Like

America's "Who's Who."

Italy at last has a reference book corresponding to "Who's Who in America." Its title is Chi E' or Who Are You? a name which is probably copied from the analogous French work, Qui est Qui? The shortest biography contained in it is:

"King of Italy."

The longest is that which deals with the war record, legislative and social life, private life and public works of Mussolini.

Reading Period Experiment Proves Successful.

The Reading Period Experiment, undertaken last year by both Harvard and Radcliffe, has, according to reports, so far proved highly successful. In the weeks between the Christmas vacation and the mid-year examinations, and the weeks immediately preceding the final examinations, the students in the three upper classes attend no classes. In this time they do extensive reading which is suggested by the faculty.

gether down at the forward end and kept their guards on the jump, but before fast-and-quick in their passing and shooting.

The score at the end of first half was 10-8 in Westhampton's favor. The teams were well matched and the playing on both sides was excellent. The second half Westhampton took more of a lead and Sweet Briar's team having been changed and recharged did not have time to get into working order, and the end of the game proved that Westhampton had won 23-17.

Line-up was as follows:
Sweet Briar Westhampton
O'Leary R. F. Richardson
Lyon L. F. Latune
Gibbs C. Riddick
Prior S. C. Hammack
H. Williams R. G. Cex
Swift L. G. Pritton
Substitutes: Sweet Briar—Whittaker for Lyon; Lyon for Whittaker; Keeler for Gibbs; Gibbs for Keeler; Whittaker for Lyon; Keeler for Gibbs; Shirley for Prior.
Substitutes: Westhampton—Beck for Latune; Wright for Pritton.

Freshman Third Team Defeats Junior Third

The Freshman third team defeated the Junior third team a week ago Monday, February 25th, in a very interesting game of basketball. The Freshmen had a strong team but did not get into working order until the second half. At the end of the first half the score stood 16-14, but the last half the Freshmen pulled ahead and won 28-16.

Line-up was as follows:
Juniors Freshmen
Sturges R. F. Han
Williams L. F. Cochran
Blake C. Powell (G.)
Jackson S. C. Blakie
Marston R. G. Groner
Smith (C.) L. G. Clary
Substitutes: Juniors—Marston for Sturges; Sturges for Marston.

Thank You!

Hulda Williams, the head of basketball, wants to thank those girls who gave up their rooms and tables last week-end, for the Westhampton team.

She would also like to express her appreciation of the three girls who braved the Lynchburg traffic to bring the oranges and lemons to the teams.

Miss Martha Biehle To Include S. B. In Tour.

Miss Martha H. Biehle, vice-president and executive secretary of the National Student Federation of the United States will include Sweet Briar in her tour of the Atlantic states, visiting here Thursday, (tomorrow).

In a letter to Esther Tyler Miss Biehle says, "For some time I have wanted to pay a visit to your college and to have the opportunity to explain the work of the Foreign-Relations Office of the National Student Federation of America. At this college of the year we are particularly eager to give you full information about the interesting tours which we are offering to American students for next summer's travel. This year the tours are even more tempting than last year, and we are concentrating our efforts on securing full delegation of one hundred students. We hope that this year, Sweet Briar College may contribute a fine group of students to our various tours."

Miss Biehle is a former Student Government President of Wellesley College and represents that college in the executive committee of the N. S. F. A.

Miss Crawford is inviting some of the students to tea Thursday afternoon to meet Miss Biehle and to discuss with her the work of the N. S. F. A. and the C. I. E.

was influenced by this. The remarkably beautiful slides with which the lectures were illustrated were made from photographs taken by Miss Czarnomaska's friend who was her companion during a stay of three months in Egypt, and the lecturer's personal reminiscences of the various scenes were particularly enjoyable. All who have attended these lectures have been made to feel the fascination of the ancient empire on the Nile, and to wish for the opportunity of visiting in person scenes of such beauty and historical significance.

Graduates Offered

Prizes For Articles.

THE AMERICAN MERCURY OFFERS two prizes, each of $500, for articles by college graduates of this year, discussing their experiences in college. One will go to the best article received from a male student, and the other to the best from a woman student. The conditions:

1. No article should be less than 3000 words long, or more than 8000.
2. Each must be the original work of a student graduating from an American college with the class of 1929, and taking the A. B. or its equivalent.
3. Each must bear the full name and address of the author, the name of the college attended, and a statement of the course followed and the degree to be taken.
4. Each must be accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope for its return in case it is not accepted.
5. The Editor of THE AMERICAN MERCURY will be the sole judge of the competition.

All MSS. entered for the prize should reach this office not later than July 1 next. The two prize-winners will be printed in the issue for September. In case others are received that seem to be worth printing, offers will be made for them. But no contestant will be obliged to accept such an offer. There are no other conditions.

The aim of the competition is not to bring forth learned treatises on the higher education, but to obtain records of personal experiences. How do the four years in college strike an intelligent young man or woman—and only the highly intelligent will be able to formulate significant verdicts—immediately after they are over? Does the time seem to have been well gained in other directions—by social contacts, and so on? How many of the instructors encountered seemed to have anything genuinely valuable to impart? Was life, in general, pleasant or not? Is there any feeling at the end that equipment has been improved? Does college arouse a desire for further learning, or do the four years seem enough?

The contestants will be expected to name their colleges, and to give the names of any teacher they may discuss, especially those who have struck them as competent. The final day for sending in MSS. has been put beyond commencement time, so that frankness need not imperil diplomas. The MSS. submitted will be judged by their honesty, their intelligence, their freshness of viewpoint, and their interest as human documents. The competition is open to the students of all American colleges of good repute. Contestants will be free to discuss all of the matters suggested, or any one of them, or anything outside them. It is desired to give them the utmost practicable freedom. MSS. may be sent in at any time before July 1. The names of all contestants save the prize-winners will be held strictly confidential.

Campus Notes

As her guest on Tuesday, President Glass had Miss Doris Lomer, head cataloguer of the Library of McGill University, Montreal. Miss Lomer's brother is head librarian at McGill University. Miss Glass entertained in Miss Lomer's honor at luncheon—Miss Elizabeth Steptoe, Miss Gay Patterson and Dean Dutton of the Library Committee.

On Saturday Evening, March 2, President Glass entertained at dinner in honor of Dr. Edmund D. Soper who addressed the College at Chapel Sunday morning. Dr. Glass's guests were Dr. and Mrs. Dies R. Anderson of Randolph Macon Woman's College, Dean Paffilo of Randolph Macon and Dean Dutton of Sweet Briar.

Next week the College will have as its guest from Thursday through Sunday Dr. W. Aiken Smart of Emory College. Dr. Smart has been enthusiastically received as guest minister to the College for several years and will be, as usual, glad and anxious to meet groups of students for conferences.

CAMPUS OPINION

"What one course would you like to see added to Sweet Briar's curriculum?"

Grace Engstrom, Senior: "I believe I would choose a course in appreciation of contemporary English and American poetry."

Mary Lynn Carlson, Sophomore: "A course in Journalism, by all means!"

Barbara Main, Sophomore: "I think some sort of a business course would be very helpful, especially to girls who want to work after they graduate from college."

Dorothea Paddock, Senior: "I think they should offer a course in Journalism, if it's at all possible. I'm sure it would be as popular as well as a useful course."

Charlotte Whinery, Senior: "I wish they'd offer Household Economics again, but without the Ec 1 and Chemistry requirements. I would also like to see a course in Journalism, and one in business training installed here at Sweet Briar."

instituted by Miss McVea to promote friendly relations to the end that the college might hold a place in the County as an educative influence.

To raise money for these campus affairs, the Branch last year gave a play which enabled it to pay expenses and to send $100 to the National Fellowship Fund. This year it plans a Community Bridge to be held in Reid Parlors, March 9th, at 2:30 p. m. Kathryn Norris is the Chairman of this bridge. The Parlor is to be divided into groups progressing only among three or four tables. Prizes will be given to each group—refreshments will be served. The first seating plan will be posted at the entrance to Reid on Saturday. Everyone is urged to come and join in a pleasant afternoon with the whole college community.
